Dads are not supposed to brag, so I won't...but Saturday night Jessie got inducted in to the Iowa Women's Hall of Fame for Basketball. I was very proud for all of the hard work she did to receive that honor. I really think she owes some of the credit to her brother, Ben, who was 9 yrs. older and made her the Tom Boy she was. She learned she had to fight like hell if she wanted to be competitive in whatever age group she decided to play with. Ben never babied her like a little sister. So, with hard work, work ethics, and a purpose in life, dreams and goals can become a reality. So hopefully in 1½ years Jessie will have 10 years in becoming the 1st doctor in the Pauley family. Her doctorate degree will be in Psychology. I'm glad she did inherit some great things from her DAD. You pick out what you think...looks, brains, or athletic ability??? Our sympathy goes out to the Vernie Miller families. If people had a dime every time Vernie smiled and laughed, they would be a wealthy person. He really loved life...Rest in peace.

Friday, March 12th @ 10:30am

March definitely came in like a lamb, and a darn tasty one at that. February was plenty lion like so I think we have more than paid for it. There still is quite a bit a chatter centered around our fed cattle marketing issue. Senator Deb Fisher of Nebraska has introduced a bill addressing several of those issues. Senator Grassley's 50/14 bill also sounds like it will be introduced again soon. Now is not the time to let off calling or emailing your congressional leaders & ask why we don't have mandatory country of origin labeling. Demand action on it!! It's more than a fair question to ask the leaders at the Iowa Cattleman's in Ames also. I still can't quite figure out why an organization that is supposed to represent cattle producers in the state of Iowa wouldn't support M-COOL.

Fed Cattle/Weigh Cows: Tuesday, March 2nd:
We had a lighter run of Fed cattle. Pacers were as aggressive as they've been in some time. Weigh cows were steady at best. Weigh cows remain a very dismal affair. I would think that thing has a chance to get a little better.

Feeder Cattle Auction: Friday, March 5th:
We had a great precondition auction Friday offering over 2500 head. Despite the significant rise of the corn trade, feeders were very aggressive. Lighter flesh cattle were in most demand. Here are a few sales.
